— Andrea Bocelli —

AZ QUOTES

Andrea Bocelli was born in the Italian town of Lajatico in 1950, to parents Alessandro and Edi. The family owned a farm, which also included a small vineyard. Bocelli's parents noticed his musical talents and entered him into piano lessons at the age of six. His love of music was well known throughout the family - his relatives always asked him to sing for them during family gatherings. Later, when asked why he became a singer, Bocelli replied, "I don't think one really decides to be a singer - other people decide it for you by their reactions." At just 12 years old, Bocelli was blinded during a soccer accident. He has been blind since he was 12. Bocelli was born with eye problems, and in fact, doctors told his parents that they should abort him because he would almost definitely be born with a disability. He was diagnosed with congenital glaucoma, and he lost his sight completely when he was 12 years old at a football game.

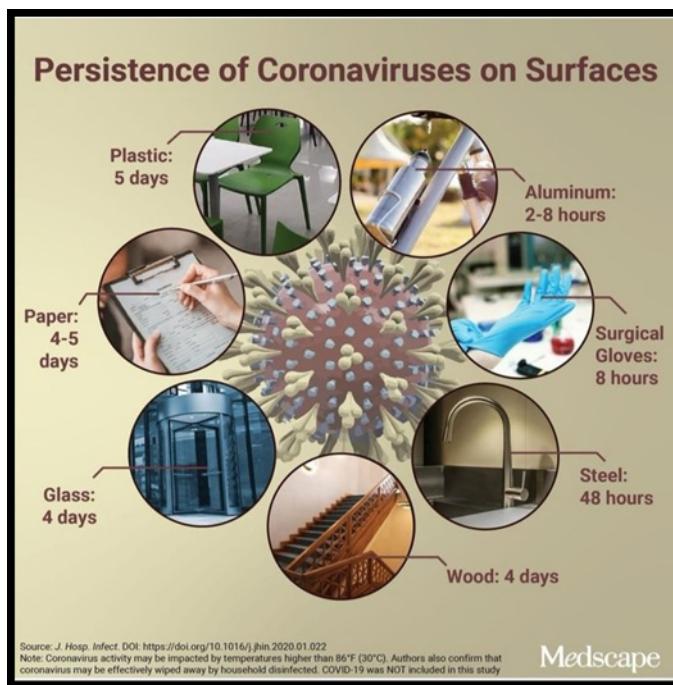

He sang for the Pope. Bocelli was able to sing for the Pope in 2000 after his father, Alessandro Bocelli, died. After he sang for the Pope in Rome, he had to return to Italy immediately afterward to attend his father's funeral.

You might have heard it called "telecommuting" or even "work from home", but the term "remote work" simply means any work you do that doesn't require commuting into an office.

The premise is this: thanks to the digital age, you can successfully complete projects and communicate with your team—even manage a team—without being in the same room or even the same city. That means that, rather than going into an office (or, worse, a dimly lit cubicle) everyday, you can work remotely from anywhere as long as you've got a laptop and internet. Good internet is key.

That brings us to the "any work" portion of the definition. Some remote workers are fully remote, meaning they work from home (or a coworking space or coffee shop) 40 hours a week. Other companies allow their teams to work remotely, say, one or two days a week. And then there are freelancers who technically work remotely because they're calling the shots on their own business. All of these qualify when you're talking about remote work. (Source: <https://skillcrush.com/blog/what-is-remote-work/>)

- 07. Observe the image below about tips on preventing acne and copy the following information from the text.

ACNE PREVENTION TIPS

- Don't over-wash or use harsh scrubs. Acne is not caused by dirt. Two gentle washings a day is enough. Too much cleaning can leave skin irritated and dry, triggering glands to produce more oil, increasing the likelihood of pimples.
- Use oil-free or noncomedogenic products (those that won't clog pores) on your face.
- Don't squeeze or pick blemishes. Popping pimples can drive acne bacteria deeper into the skin. Picking can lead to more inflammation and permanent scarring.
- Don't let acne define who you are. Do what you can to improve your skin, working with a dermatologist, if necessary, and keep doing the things you enjoy.
